KEMPER COMPANY WILL DISPORT IT-SELF IN "UNCLE TOM'S CARIN."

Much Interest in the Pretentious Revival of the Ante-Bellum Play-Thomas Hall Will Be the |Uncle Tom-Concerts and Pupils' Recitals.

The Kemper stock company will this evening produce a dramatization of Har-riet Beecher Stowe's famous book, "Un-cle Tom's Cabin." There is an air of decid-ed novelty in the announcement, although this famous play is far from being a novelty in itself. The novel feature is the radical departure of the bill from anything that this clever band of players has given in the way of an entertainment. So far the repertoire has been confined to the in the way of an entertainment. So far the repertoire has been confined to the very lightest of society plays, bright comedies and comedy-dramas of a slightly more serious nature. In "Uncle Tom's Cabin" they have not only a much heavier play, but a character drama which will test the versatility of Mr. Kemper's players to the utmost.

The serious portion of the story is light, ened by some good comedy, and many a hearty laugh has been enjoyed over the "shiftless" Topsy, the nente lawyer Marks and the prim old New England maid.

Mr. Kemper is going to outdo himself in this production. A large number of special scenes have been painted for the occasion, and the river scene in which Eliza and her child will make their escape from the slave traders by seeking refuge on a treacherous piece of floating ice will be one of the most elaborate things of its kind ever done in Kansas City. A magnificent transformation scene has been paint, ed for the final tableau of the apotheosis of Little Eva and Uncle Tom, which promises to equal any transformation scene presented by Henderson's extravaganzas. An excellent double quartette of negrosingers has been engaged to furnish the music, and a band of pickaninnies will make the auction scene lively with their antics, dancing and singing.

A pack of bloodhounds will make the scene of the pursuit of Eliza more realistic, and Marks will ride to the slave mart on a flery, untamed burro, whose long ear, are the pride of Jackson county. Two Tonys will give the prim little old New England spinster all she can do to look after them. They will be played by Miss Zoe Halbert, of Kansas City, who was on the road last season with the "Friends" company, and by Master Blucher, whose singing and dancing, will be one of the salient features of the performance. Mr. Thomas A. Hall will play Uncle Tom, and pretty little Marte Stewart will be the Eva. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will run all week, with the usual Saturday matchee. As this famous old play has not been adequately presented here in a number of y for next season. He says the biggest success New York has had for years is "Trilby," which he pronounces a great play, as well as a strong novelty. The same company now giving the drama in that city will be seen at the Coates in September.

Virginia Harned, who has won the greatest success of her career as Trilby, has had quite an eventful experience on the stage. Miss Harned began her theatrical work in London, where she made her several seasons she was the leading woman in E. H. Sothern's company, appearing as Clara Dexter in the "Malster of Woodbarrow," Drusilla Ives in "The Dancing Girl" and Fanny in "Captain Letterblair. Leaving Daniel Frohman's management. Miss Harned Joined A. M. Palmer's stock company, with which she scored a success as Mrs. Erlynne in "Leady Windermere's Fan." Miss Harned has never appeared in this city save in one character, and that was in the revival of "A Night Off," presented by J. L. Buford's company, at the Auditorhum, some seven years ago.
